

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0030] A utensil for handling sensitive material is disclosed. The utensil includes a pair of pockets for receiving a user's hand and being formed of a flexible material, wherein each of the pockets has an open end, a closed end and two sides. One side of each pocket is flat and arranged in opposition to the other, thereby forming opposing sides. A hinge joins together the pair of pockets at the opposing sides and at the open ends thereof. The hinge biases the pockets in a closed position such that the pair of pockets are separable by the user for gripping the sensitive material with the opposing sides at the closed ends of the pockets.

T:\Client Documents\SPELL\009a\PatApp.wpd
010802\KMS\MK:jiw

2014-05-04 10:00